This is an example of adding text to a PDF using PDFBox with a centered header image. The text is wrapped so that it does not spill off the right edge of the page. You can keep writing as much as you want here and it will automatically break into new lines.